

Training Courses for HR Professionals

De Clercq Advocaten regularly delivers interactive legal training courses for HR professionals. These courses not only help you expand your knowledge and expertise, but also equip you to provide your organisation with more effective and comprehensive support. In this way, our training courses contribute to the professional development of both you and your organisation. What could be better than that?

Our training courses include, among others:

- Pay Transparency
- Employment Law Updates
- Social Safety in the Workplace
- Incapacity for Work
- Organisational Change Processes
- Employee Participation
- AI in the Workplace
- Grounds for Dismissal (Including Summary Dismissal)
- Building an Employment Case File

Depending on the experience and expertise of you, your HR colleagues and any in-house legal counsel, we can tailor our training courses to your specific needs. You can tell us where you and your organisation would benefit most from additional knowledge and support. Based on your input, we will then tailor the training content, focusing on the key topics and priorities relevant to your organisation.

Curious to find out whether our training courses are right for you and your colleagues? Please feel free to contact us for an informal, no-obligation discussion at no cost to you.
